New Editor & Auction Postal Address

My apologies to Louis Laflamme who usually provides a PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE column in this location, but I did not provide notice soon enough for him to submit his Message in time for this issue. The PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE will be back in the next newsletter.

For this issue, I will use this space to highlight that all postal communications to the Editor or the Auction Manager should be directed to a new postal address. I moved in April and am living in an interim apartment until fall. At that time, I plan to move again – across country to Oregon. For now, if you need to send anything for the Newsletter or for the auctions – please use the new address given on the back page or in the paragraph for Submitting Bids in the auction listing.

Note: email addresses for both the editor and the auction manager have remained the same.

On a different topic, as was mentioned in the last Newsletter (V23N2), the USA's largest stamp gathering, StampShow, will be held in Grand Rapids, Michigan on August 20-23, 2015. I have made my plans to attend. If any other members will also be there, I would very much like to have the opportunity to meet you during the show.

Finally, I would like to draw everyone's attention to the new #1 for KEP that will be listed in future Scott Catalogues. The article appears on page 6. This new #1 has, in my opinion, some potential worrisome aspects. As noted in the article, if any members wish to purchase this new #1 from me, please contact me early. If demand is larger than the supply I ordered, I will try and obtain more copies.

Correction to White Russia Article (V23N2)

Hello Tim,

As always I enjoyed your additions to "First Issues". The Russian Civil War is a fascinating chapter in history especially #### since the United States played a significant military role aiding the "white Russians", something most Americans are unaware of. I am attaching the write-ups form my Russian Empire album section which covers the Russian Civil War which I thought you might enjoy reading.

A minor typo in your article-Belarus is east not west of Poland et al.

[Editor: Thank you for the geography correction. ... I am publishing Martin's write-ups for the Russian Civil War section of his album. These are on page 5 of this Newsletter.]

Inverted Watermark on Rhodes Sc#2

Hi Tim,

I have a copy of Rhodes #2 that has an up side down watermark. I have recently watermarked a couple hundred of these and not encountered an inverted watermark before. Have you? Are they common?

Dave Olson, FICC #1 Email: April, 2015

[Editor: I replied to Dave that I had not seen an inverted watermark on this stamp, but I had not inspected very many either. If anyone in FICC can help Dave with this question – either through personal observations or reference books/articles, I am sure he would appreciate it.]

First Issues of the Ottoman Empire

By Louis Laflamme, FICC #210

One of the most powerful states in the world for a long time, the Ottoman Empire, was founded in the beginning of the XIVth century by Osman I (1258-1327). At the height of its powers under Soliman in 1648, it controlled vast territories across southeast Europe, the Middle East and North Africa from its capital in Constantinople (present day Istanbul). At the beginning of the XIXth century, because of its incapacity to modernize its archaic institutions and external pressures, it was in full decline. In 1827, Greece gained its independence and the Balkans principalities, although still under nominal control, were largely autonomous just like Egypt from 1833. It is during this context of political decline that the first postal service was inaugurated in 1840. The first stamps would have to wait until 1863 and were issued under the reign of Sultan Abdülaziz who ruled from 1861 to 1876. At that time, many European powers had been operating post offices in the Empire for decades and they continued to do so until 1914. Most of the international mail transited through these post offices.

The first stamps featured the monogram of the Sultan (Tughra) and for that reason are known today as the Tughra stamps. These stamps were produced by the lithography process and printed on very thin and fragile pelure paper at the Imperial Print. The stamps were dyed after the printing and then were sent to the Ministry of Finance for the application of a control band at the foot of the stamp validating them for postal use. The band reads Devlet-i aliyye Nezaret-i Maliye meaning "Finance Ministry of the Imperial Government". It was applied in red for the 20 paras, 1 and 2 kurus stamps and in blue for the 5 kurus stamp and all postage due stamps.

FIRST PRINTING

Interestingly, the first printed stamps at the end of 1862 were not the first issued. They were a 2 kurus stamp printed in shades of blue and a 5 kurus stamp in shades of pink. These are shown at left (130%). Only a few sheets were printed because it was soon realized that the little spacing between the stamps printed on horizontal rows of 12 did not leave enough room for the application of the control band necessary to validate the stamps already produced were not destroyed and would still be issued for use later in early 1864. These stamps bear a secret mark, for the 2 kurus it is a small black dot in the 9th pearl from the top in the right vertical row. For the 5 kurus the dot is located near the top part of the inside frame in the top left corner. Because of the sometimes weak printing they can be very difficult if not impossible to spot especially on used stamps. Undignified by a separate catalogue number in Scott they are #1 and #2 in the Isfila Turkish specialized catalogue. In Michel they are #3I and #4I. In a footnote the stamps are described in Scott and their rarity recognized.

SECOND PRINTING AND POSTAGE DUES

Two denominations were added for the second printing, a 20 paras stamp in yellow and a 1 kurus in grey. These four stamps, shown at right, 80%, are Sc#1, 2, 4 and 5. For that second printing, each alternate row of stamps was inverted so they were now printed as blocks of têtebêche pairs. The figure at left, 80%, shows Sc#1 as a têtebêche pair.

The postage due stamps were of the same denominations and were printed from the same stones in the same manner. Sc# J1-4 (including the scarce brick red shade of the 5 kurus) are shown at right, 80%. They were dyed in shades of brown all with a Continued on p.4

blue control band. A rarer shade of brick red is also known. I don't usually include back-of-the-book first issues in my collection but for these I made an exception because they share the same characteristics with the regular stamps and that were all issued January 1st 1863. Furthermore, these stamps were not postage due stamps in the true sense of the term. They were to be fixed on letters posted from places where no post office existed. The duty was paid to the carrier accepting the letters for delivery and the stamps were fixed at the nearest post office. So these stamps played exactly the same role as the regular ones and letters are known bearing both regular and postage due stamps cancelled at the same time.

Secret marks can also be found on these stamps. Again, poor printing and cancellation can make them difficult to detect.

THIRD PRINTING

A final third printing took place in 1864 for the 20 paras and 1 kurus stamps, but the paper for that printing was thicker and only the front was colored. These two stamps are Sc#6 and Sc#7, respectively.

FORGERIES

Forgeries exist and can easily be found for sale on the internet. The secret marks can be of some use but for the reasons mentioned above they are often of little help. The paper is usually thicker for the forgeries but this can only be appreciated if you can examine the stamp. Small differences in design such as the shape of the Tughra or of the arabic numeral characters are easier to spot.

The figure at left shows a 20 paras (Sc#1) forgery. It has no secret mark, and the shape of the numeral "2" is wrong.

The figure at right shows a 2-kurus (Sc#3) forgery in the scarce brick red shade. The numeral "2" in this forgery has the wrong shpe.

A Stamp Rarity on Public Display

Although not a #1, what many consider the world's rarest stamp, the 1856 British Guiana One-Cent Magenta (Br Guiana Sc#13), is on display to the public at the Smithsonian National Postal Museum in Washington DC, USA. The stamp is available for viewing starting June 4, 2015 (last month by the time this Newsletter is published) for 2.5 years. According to Allen Kane of the NPM, there will be two short periods when the display will NOT be available: Nov 27 - Dec 9, 2015 and May 23 - June 10, 2016.

I understand that some philatelists believe the Sweden 3-skilling orange error (Sweden Sc#1a) lays claim to the rarest stamp. When there is only one known copy of each in existence, I personally think the argument is pointless. I have every intention of getting to Washington DC to see this rarity – and I wish a successful viewing for others in the FICC who want to see this stamp.

Russian Empire – Russian Civil War

From the album of Martin Nadel, FICC #20

When the Bolsheviks replaced the Provisional Government established by the Duma, a number of anti-Bolshevik political groups formed a poorly coordinated armed opposition precipitating the Russian Civil War. This opposition was collectively called the White Russians as opposed to the Bolshevik Reds. The civil war lasted from November 1917 until October 1922. While the resistance was composed of many fragmented and competing groups, it can be organized into three main areas: the Northwest bordering the Baltic States; the East including Siberia and the South including the Ukraine.

South Russia saw the Don Cossacks and the Kuban Cossacks set up short lived independent states which were replaced in 1919 by a South Russian Government which came under the control of General Anton Denikin. After several disastrous defeats, Denikin stepped down and was replaced by General Pyotr Wrangel who in April 1920 set up a new South Russian Government. The Red Army pushed Wrangel back into the Crimea, and in November 1920, the South Russian Government collapsed with Wrangel, his troops and many white Russian refugees being evacuated to Constantinople.

In November 1918 dissidents in the Crimea established a provisional government which was quickly overrun by the Soviets. They in turn were driven out by General Denikin in June 1919 with the Crimea being incorporated into Denikin's South Russian Government.

Northwest Russia saw a formidable army organized in Estonia by General Yudenich in 1919. They advanced deeply into Northwest Russia attacking Petrograd. Leon Trotsky organized the defense of the city and of the city and the Army of the Northwest eventually retreated back to Estonia where they disbanded in 1920.

North Russia at the start of the civil war had Murmansk and Archangel as the major supply ports for Allied military supplies for the Russian war effort against Germany and Austria. When Germany invaded Finland the allies were afraid they would advance into Northern Russia and capture the critical port of Murmansk. An Allied expeditionary force primarily British and American army, naval and air units landed to safeguard these military supplies. The allied military effort was then turned against the Bolsheviks. In 1918 the allies joined forces with the White Russian counterrevolutionaries. The Red army was able to rally and faced with mounting criticism at home, the allied forces withdrew in 1920 leading to Soviet control over all of North and Northwest Russia

Siberia: The anti-Bolshevik counter revolution in the East was initiated by the Czechoslovak Legion and groups of White military units. The Czechoslovak Legion was composed of Czech and Slovak military units which had formed to fight the Austro-German army on the Eastern front but had been interned by the Red Army in Siberia. When the Reds refused to repatriate them in 1918, they joined with White Army units to establish a Provisional Siberian Government in Omsk. The leader of the Provisional Siberian Government was Admiral Alexander Kolchak. The Bolsheviks captured Omsk in 1920 and Kolchak resigned.

In Transbaikal Province, the anti-Bolshevik White Russian movement was joined in 1918 by a significant Japanese Expeditionary Corps. The Russian leader of these forces was the Ataman Gregory Semyonov. After the collapse of the Kolchak regime in 1920, Semyonov proclaimed himself ruler of Siberia, establishing his capital at Chita. The Semyonov regime lasted until October 1920 when it was overcome by the newly formed Far Eastern Republic.

In 1920, the Far Eastern Republic was established by moderate Socialist revolutionaries. The Red Russian government allowed the Far Eastern Republic to exist as a buffer between itself and the Japanese supported White Russians. After the Japanese, under pressure from the United States evacuated Siberia in 1922, the Far Eastern Republic was annexed to the USSR.

In May 1921, a revolt of the White Guards in the Priamur and Maritine Provinces established a Provisional Government of the Priamur. This breakaway anti-Bolshevik government also came under Red Russian control when the Japanese evacuated in October 1922.

In February 1920, other dissident anti-revolutionaries established a separate government in Amur Province administered at Blagoveshchensk. This was taken over by the Far Eastern Republic later that same year.

A New Sc#1 Stamp – Kyrgyz Express Post

By Tim Balm, FICC #91

The Scott Catalogue Listings Update section of the May, 2015 issue of Linn's Stamp News contained a listing for "Kyrgyz Express Post" Sc#1-3 issued on November 18, 2014. It appears that these stamps will be listed in the 2016 Scott Catalogues immediately following the Kyrgyzstan stamps – in the same way that Czech Legion Post stamps follow Czechoslovakia listings.

The Sc#1 KEP stamps were printed in sheets of four. Each shows a jet plane taking off and has a 500s denomination. Scott lists the value at $24.00 for either mint or used. I have contacted some new issue dealers that I know, and will be getting a small supply of the #1 stamps that I will make available to FICC members "at cost". Please contact me if interested and I will provide cost details.

Knowing nothing about why these stamps were being created and why Scott was listing them, I did a quick internet search and found the KEP (Kyrgyz Express Post) web site (www.kep.kg/en/philately.html). The following is excerpted from that web page.

"Kyrgyz Express Post (KEP) is happy to introduce its new service concerning philatelic matter! Here is some useful information related to this new activity that we would like to bring to your attention.

"Kyrgyz Express Post LLC has been operating in the postal market of Kyrgyzstan since 16 March 2012 ... providing a range of postal, financial and other services.

"Pursuant to the decision of the Ministry of Transport and Communications of the Republic of Kyrgyzstan dated 7 December 2012, Kyrgyz Express Post LLC was granted the second designated postal operator of Kyrgyzstan, which was further confirmed by the UPU International Bureau.

"Inasmuch as KEP provides postal delivery services on the basis of established tariffs, it has decided to issue postage stamps. The issue of each stamp goes through an approval process under the supervision of the Ministry of Transport and Communications of the Republic of Kyrgyzstan.

"KEP stamps represent a real payment instrument, ensuring payment for services of forwarding postal items from Kyrgyzstan to all UPU member countries. KEP stamps are sold at face value. All mail franked with KEP stamps can be executed only at KEP offices."

Even though the KEP is recognized as a legitimate postal service by the UPU, I believe Scott's decision to list stamps from a private company (even if it is a secondary supplier to the country's government system) is a major event in our collecting lives. As postal authorities continue to struggle around the world, look for more private companies to be granted UPU approval.

Perhaps others will disagree, but selling stamps to the vast market of dealers and collectors will be a huge incentive for such private companies to get into the business of mail delivery in economically disadvantaged countries. Could we be seeing the beginning of an upsurge in stamps printed primarily for collectors rather than for postal use?
